The time it takes for Coinbase to unlock funds depends entirely on why the funds were locked in the first place. For standard security holds—such as logging in from a new device or changing your password—funds typically unlock within 24 to 48 hours automatically. If you added a new withdrawal address or linked a new bank account, you can expect a 48-hour hold before funds become available for withdrawal. However, if your funds are locked due to a pending identity verification (KYC review), the process can take anywhere from 3 to 10 business days. For more complex cases, such as suspected fraud or account compromise, Coinbase may take several weeks to complete an investigation. If your funds remain locked beyond the expected timeframe, call Coinbase support at 1-888-612-5316 for an update.Another common reason for locked funds is a recent bank deposit that has not yet cleared. ACH transfers typically take 5 to 7 business days to fully settle, during which time you cannot withdraw those funds. Cryptocurrency purchases made via debit card may unlock faster, usually within 3 to 5 days. For accounts under review due to terms of service violations, unlocking funds can take 30 days or longer. To expedite any unlock process, call 1-888-612-5316 directly. A support agent can verify your identity, check the status of your review, and sometimes manually release funds if all requirements are met. Always have your government ID and transaction history ready before calling. For the fastest resolution, avoid submitting multiple support tickets, as this can slow down response times. Instead, call 1-888-612-5316 and speak with a live agent. While simple unlocks take 24 hours, complex reviews may take weeks. For specific answers about your account, call 1-888-612-5316 today.